

Gail F. Douglas, RN, CCRA

Gail F. Douglas serves as a Medical/Science board member. Her experience in writing and revising standard operating procedures as well as her knowledge of FDA and ICH guidelines provide valuable input into the IRB process.

She has practiced as a registered nurse since 1968 and been involved with clinical research for over 27 years. Throughout her career, she has contributed to the growth of research in the role of clinical coordinator, research monitor, mentor, educator and quality assurance coordinator. She has been able to provide research compliance support for the Veterans Health Administration, educational reinforcement for researchers and their staff at Indiana University School of Medicine and worked as an independent contractor for most of the major pharmaceutical companies. She is certified as a Clinical Research Associate (CCRA) through the Academy of Clinical Research Professionals, a member of the Society of Clinical Research Associates and a lifelong learner. She also serves on the IUPUI/Clarian IRB in an affiliate role.

Gail is a graduate of the Akron City Hospital Idabelle Firestone School of Nursing in Akron, Ohio.
